History of Doboka:

05

Doboka is located near Jamuna valley in the southern part of earlier Nagaon district. The Doboka is well known for Akashiganga and Buri Ganga. It is not possible to know the ancient culture, tradition, or civilization and social activities. The King Atham is started to write history through 'Homarpith', but they are not able to reveal in the river Jamuna. So, there is not found any history of the particular place. Hence, the place is ~~is not~~ covered by the history. The picture of the Doboka place are not general area like other places of Assam. Here we may mention the earthquake of 1897 and its objection. As a result of this earthquake there are huge changes appear in the particular place like flood, lot of damages Railway line and various constructional work. The people of Doboka area are more industrious and they produce cultivation. In 1982 a youth union namely Mitree Bahini was formed under the leadership of Keshendra Nath - Sahasrabudha and Lakshmi Prasad Gurusami. They played active role and burnt the tourism office of the Khaliabati.

In this way the contribution of Debora people are remarkable here we may mentioned the name of Jagat Jinson Gupta, Kureswa Datta, Mrs. Peer Jahan Ali. But they are deprived from Govt Pension of Freedom fighters.

Geographical place of ~~Assam~~ - Doboka

07

In the Northeast India the Red River and the Blue hill is situated. The Red River and the Blue hill situated in the Northeast region of India. The Nagaon is called historical and cultural holy place of Assam which is situated in the middle of Assam. Numbers of Cultural and historical and cultivation activities are found in Southern Part of Nagaon specially at Doboka.

Doboka is situated in the Southern Part of Doboka Hill and the bank of Jomuna River. Lomka Hojai and Doboka are rich in cultural, social and various religious sectors. Doboka Town is surrounded by various hills, rivers & streams and heavy forest. So, this is uncomparable in natural beauty. This hills so many river & forest covered unlimited effect by the climate of Assam. From the last 6th Century in Doboka ~~where~~ were found various rivers streams etc. on that basis Hindu Kingdom was built -

Temple King Debra. In Seventeen (17)th century the area of Northeastern Hills founding heavily rainfall and surrounding area was flood affected on that reason the Kapili river was born. After so many years left the Kapili river becomes movement situation and the people was started to livelihood in the bank of Kapili and many math & Temple was built in surrounding area according to needs of religions.

Kings of Temple around Doboka:—

09

The 15th King of the Tripura Caste came to the Kapili valley of South Nagas in the Kapili valley of South Nagas in the year 1900 B.C.

The boundaries of the state are described as follows—

you made the Kingdom of a city on the land of Tribe.

you returned on the banks of river Kapili. The Taiyang.

River to the north and the Acharanga to the South. It is bounded by—Mekhil on the east and Pacharanga on the West?

Temple around Doboka:

Established around 1000 B.C. in Doboka Bazar the Kibit pictures ruled independently for several centuries. Several scholars believe that about 120 members of the dynasty played musical instruments. The influential Prince who ruled Doboka in the middle of the 4th/5th Century was Chandra Ballabh or Chandramukh. In 428 A.D. two convoys were sent from India to China, according to a text.

Fifth (5th) Century Chinese traveller Hsueh-shue (420-79 A.D). The remains of ancient Temples and architectural setup sculptures are scattered in the south east-western region of Nagaon district especially around Debona, Hojai, Jusiyan etc. It has come to light today as a result of the sincere efforts of Mr. Rajmohan Nath from 1935 to the Directorate of Archaeology of Assam has taken significant steps to preserve preserve the monuments of this region and to introduce and study our ancient traditions.

The Temple of Surrounding area of Debona is -

- (a) Akashi Ganga or B. Vashishtashikam
- (b) Gachala or Gachala inscription
- (c) Mikhaati or Matham
- (d) Mandoren

Akashi Ganga or Vashishtashram:-

Sri Sri Akashi Ganga is located in the hill range about 1 km west of NH-30 in the South Parkhwa area, about 3 miles from Dabka. There is a natural waterfall descending from the top of the hill. It descends to the surface and forms a pool in the lower plain. A beautiful Shiva Temple was built by an unknown king in the 11th/12th century near this well. Archaeologist Ramachandran mentioned that this place is with Western Chalukya Architecture (Maharashtra). There are also idols of Vishnu, Lakshmi, Sri Rama, Ganga and Bhadra, ruins of ancient Kalab rock temples, lotus flowers carved in stone, temple peaks carved in the shape of various creepers and architectural sculptures above the sky on the banks of the Ganges. There are many festivals and fairs held here every year during Shivaratri and thousands of devotees come here every year in December and January to enjoy the ashram of Maharishi Vashista. According to him, there are three streams of Vashishtashram, the Urdhaganga on the north-east side of the Akashi Ganga. 3. The sky Ganga is on the southwest side of me. The Budhiganga (going to Kayedik of Budhigaon near Dabka) is the only three stream, namely Evening, Lalita and Castan.

Mathban or Mikihaati :-

This is the Mathban or Mikihaati to the North. It is very close to the Gabka Hills. Many rock carved idols, Shiva Lingas, lotus wheels, arches etc. have been discovered in this monastery. Idols of Shiva, Vishnu and Lakshmi have also been recovered. According to Dr. Pradeep Sharma, when a few years ago the famous architect Dr. S.K. Saraswati when came to Mikihaati, she said that the physical structure and technique of the idols found here were similar to those of the Ganga - Jamunab idols in the Gupta arches. Therefore, the history of Mikihaati dates back to the fifth and sixth centuries.

According to local byz and the officials in charge of the site, the Archaeological Department of the Government of Assam conducted excavations at the site and recovered six large clay pots. The mouths of these urns were closed. Therefore, it was not known what was inside. I heard that there was only 'coins' there. These pots are currently being kept in the Directorate of Archeology of Assam. Formerly this place was covered with forest. Currently, the Archaeological Department of the Government of Assam.

Grachtala or Gachtala inscriptions:-

There are two adjacent old ponds at Grachtal or Gachtala, about 2 km west of Dabka Bazar, and the remains of an stone temple on the eastern bank of the pond. An inscription of Visvasundar Deva, king of the kingdom of Dabka, has been found at this place. It records the defeat of Awar Khan, the ruler of Bengal, in 1223 AD by Vishwasundar Deva. From the notes of Bajmohan Nath in the 1938 magazine of the Kamrup Research Society, it is known that the Shivling here was transferred to Hajo by some Westerners. Many of the idols discovered at this Shivasthan can be seen in the Parks of Nagorn and the museums of Guwahati. In Addition, in 1966, two copper plates were unveiled at Grachtala by the then District Magistrate R.V. Lyngdoh and the then Director General of the Assam Archaeological Department, Dr. Lyngdoh. P.C. Chowdhury was handed over. He published the details in 1968 in the Journal of the Assam Research Society Vol. - XVIII. These two immortal Tablets are currently deposited in the Assam Archaeological Department. These two Tablets mention the donation of a piece of land by Raja Gopal Varman of Kamrup at that time.

Maudanga:

About 10/12 km east of Labkar, Janun. The remains of a Shiva temple and a pond are found in the village of Maudanga on the banks of the river. Those who know the architectural style of the Shiva temple at Maudanga believe that it was built around the 12th century.

However, this honeycomb has a distinctive characteristic. During the reign of the British sponsored king of the Kachari kingdom, Govinda Chandra, there was a long dispute between the king and Tularam Senapati over the claim of the Khaspur rebel leader Tularam Senapati to rule the northern part of the Kachari kingdom as an independent king. King Govinda Chandra secretly conspired to kill Tularam Senapati. Tularam, with his family and many other followers, left his hometown of Khaspur and advanced towards the Tamuna Valley. They broke through the forests and reached the banks of the Tamuna Valley River, the northern most border of the Kachari kingdom. In the evening, he decided to spend the night under a tree in the forest on the banks of the Tamuna River. They cleaned up a place there.

Conclusion :-

At last, as a student of B.A. 6th semester of Murazar College of Assamese Department under Guwahati University, I would like to express my gratitude to Guwahati University, for allowing me to prepare the Project. Moreover, I also express my sincere gratitude to the Principal of Murazar College, because without support of our Principal I am unable to prepare my project. Moreover, I am grateful to Md. Sulman Ali Khan Sir, HOD Deptt of Assamese, along with Monirujjaman Sir and Sunita Bordoloi Mam. I have completed my Project work under the guidance of our respected Teachers. Finally, I am grateful to our Teachers for their contribution to prepare this project work.
